

CHARLIE CRIST
GOVERNOR

October 8, 2009

Dear Friends:

It is my pleasure to welcome all attending the Florida Flexible Fuel Vehicle (FFV) Awareness Project.

As Governor of the great State of Florida, I understand that biofuels are vital in reducing our dependence on foreign oil and increasing our energy security. Advancements in the biofuel sector also preserve the unique natural environment we have here in Florida. Florida's success as a national leader and investment in renewable energy technology, including ethanol and other biofuel production, benefits the state's economy and environment.

This special three-day event is a unique opportunity to share information about the advancement of biofuels and the impact they can have on protecting Florida's beautiful natural environment.

Thank you to the Flexible Fuel Vehicle Club of America for your commitment to promote the advancement of biofuels in Florida.

Best wishes for a memorable event.

Sincerely,
